Austin Health #3DMed Symposium

25 August 2017

Why get involved

Austin Health Department of Vascular Surgery in collaboration with the 3D Med lab provides a unique educational environment dedicated to scientific research and training. There will be many attendees from different professions attending the symposium so there is no better way to reach out to them by sponsoring this symposium. The key benefits for being involved include:

- The opportunity to promote your name, to support your products and to maintain a high profile amongst specialists, during the event.
- Your contribution to the promotion, planning and operation of the meeting reduces the overall costs of staging the event enabling a higher level of participation by delegates.
- An opportunity to interact with delegates face to face
- An opportunity to consolidate corporate relationships and expose your staff to their key markets.
